WEEKLY REFLECTIONS from your PASTOR

The Lord's Supper insures that we can remember Jesus from any place. Apollo 11 landed on the moon on Sunday, July 20, 1969. Most remember astronaut Neil Armstrong's first words as he stepped onto the moon's surface: "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind." But few know about the first meal eaten on the moon. Dennis Fisher reports that Buzz Aldrin, the NASA Astronaut had taken aboard the spacecraft a tiny Communion kit provided by his Episcopalian pastor. Aldrin sent a radio broadcast to Earth asking listeners to contemplate the events of the day and give thanks. Then, blacking out the broadcast for privacy, Aldrin read, "I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much fruit." Then, silently, he gave thanks and partook (Dan Gulley: "Communion on the Moon": Our Daily Bread: June/July/August, 2007). His actions remind us that in the Lord's Supper, God's children can share the life of Jesus from any place on Earth — and even from the moon. God is everywhere, and our worship should reflect this reality. In Psalm 139 we are told that wherever we go, God is intimately present with us. Buzz Aldrin celebrated that experience on the surface of the moon. Thousands of miles from earth, he took time to commune with the One who created, redeemed, and established fellowship with him.

This year's readings for this feast emphasize the theme of the covenant blood. Ancient peoples sealed covenants with the blood of ritually sacrificed animals and Jesus sealed his New Covenant with his own blood shed on Calvary. Today's first reading describes how Moses, by sprinkling the blood of a sacrificial animal on the altar and on the people, accepted for His chosen people the covenant Yahweh was initiating with Israel. In the second reading, St. Paul affirms that Jesus sealed the New Covenant with his own blood, thereby putting an end to animal sacrifices. Today's gospel details how Jesus converted this ancient ritual into a sacrament and sacrifice. Instead of the lamb's blood, Jesus offered his own divine/human body and blood, and instead of sprinkling us with blood, he put His Body and Blood into our hands as food. Mark recounts the institution of the Eucharist -- how Jesus said to his disciples, gathered for the Seder: "Take, this is my body" -- not "represents notice, not "memorializes", but "IS"! A little later, He says: "This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many." -- again, "IS"

Jesus instituted the Eucharist in deliberate allusion to, and fulfillment of, what happened on Mt. Sinai. He replaced Moses as the divinely chosen mediator, establishing the new covenant promised through the prophet Jeremiah (Jer 31:31-34), by using His own blood

A Note from Father Hendricks regarding Latin Mass

The next Latin Mass will be Sunday, June 14 at 6:00 AM. We will follow the option of doing the Mass of Corpus Christi. We will be in the "Time after Pentecost" which is the season following the Octave of Pentecost which doesn't exist in the ordinary rite. There are no plans of having a procession of the Blessed Sacrament with this Mass.

PLEASE PRAY FOR: Bill Coppins : Denise Shupe: Breanna Fisher-Andrews : Carl Swafford : Hank Terry : Ricky Terry : Terry & Tyler Gestring : Jonathan O'Dell : Gerald Dean Johnston : Robby Brickner : Lorraine Menheer : Delores Kiefer :

rather than that of sacrificial animals. By sacramentally consuming the body and blood of the God-Man, we, the final-age people of God, are interiorly transformed through the most perfect possible union with the divinity. Jesus creates a faithful people intimately united with God by means of His sacramental blood.

We should remember the warning given by St. Paul: "Whoever, therefore, eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be answerable for the body and blood of the Lord. Examine yourselves, and only then eat of the bread and drink of the cup. For all who eat and drink without discerning the body, eat and drink judgment against themselves." [1 Cor. 11:27-9]. Hence, let us receive Holy Communion with fervent love and respect -- not merely as a matter of routine. St. Paul is speaking also of the mystical body of Christ, i.e., the people of God gathered at the altar. Such a union, plainly, means that our outward piety towards the consecrated Bread and Wine cannot coexist with rudeness, unkindness, slander, cruelty, gossiping or any other breach of charity toward our brothers and sisters.

Eucharist becomes meaningful only when we lead a Eucharistic life daily- by being agents of unity, love and sacrificial love.

PRECIOUS BLOOD

On this solemnity we focus our attention on the Body and Blood of Christ. We listen to the story of the renewal of the old covenant, which Moses sealed by splashing the blood of animals on the altar of sacrifice, as well as on the people. Jesus, whose blood is the blood of the new covenant, shed that precious blood on the cross, saving us from sin and promising us everlasting life. Blood is the life source that courses through our bodies. The precious blood of Christ is the life source for our spirits. Today may we, like the psalmist, offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to the Lord, whose body and blood strengthens us to bring the Good News to everyone we meet.

THE CHURCH AND THE SPIRIT

Where the Church is, there is the Spirit of God; and where the Spirit of God is, there is the Church and all grace, and the Spirit is truth.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

The origins of today's solemnity lie in thirteenth-century Belgium. In those days, people seldom received Holy Communion, and never the chalice. A nun in a troubled convent, Juliana of Liège, devoted her life to stirring up love for the Eucharist, lobbying for a feast day to honor the Blessed Sacrament with Masses and processions.

Juliana may have been inspired by the Ascension Day processions in nearby Bruges. Crusaders brought a treasure home to Bruges from Constantinople in 1204: a reliquary said to contain a cloth from Joseph of Arimathea with which he had helped prepare the body of Jesus for burial. The stain on the cloth was said to be the holy blood itself, and so the people of Bruges built a great basilica to house the relic. Bruges became a great center of pilgrimage because of this treasure, and the procession of the Holy Blood is still one of the greatest festivals in Belgium today. The bishop carries the relic through the narrow streets, and the people wear medieval costumes and act out scenes from the Bible.
