WEEKLY REFLECTIONS from your PASTOR

Fritz Kreisler (1875-1962), the world-famous violinist, earned a fortune with his concerts and compositions, but he generously gave most of it away. So, when he discovered an exquisite violin on one of his trips, he wasn't able to buy it. Later, having raised enough money to meet the asking price, he returned to the seller, hoping to purchase that beautiful instrument. But to his great dismay it had been sold to a collector. Kreisler made his way to the new owner's home and offered to buy the violin. The collector said it had become his prized possession and he would not sell it. Keenly disappointed, Kreisler was about to leave when he had an idea. "Could I play the instrument once before it is consigned to silence?" he asked. Permission was granted, and the great virtuoso filled the room with such heart-moving music that the collector's emotions were deeply stirred. "I have no right to keep this violin to myself," he exclaimed. "It's yours, Mr. Kreisler. Take it into the world, and let people hear it." By sending each one of us as his messengers and ambassadors to the people around us with his 'good news' Jesus gives us the same instruction.

Jesus had been quietly training his chosen Apostles for some time. They had heard his preaching, they had seen the miracles worked by him. Their future work would be to bring his teaching and the story of his life and miracles to all men. They had not seen all yet, nor were they as yet fully aware of who he really was, but they did know that he was laying the foundations of the kingdom of God among men. He now sends them out on a temporary mission; two by two they were to go to the neighboring villages and towns preaching repentance, casting out demons and healing the sick. They were to trust absolutely in God's providence; he would see to it that those to whom they preached would provide them with the necessities of life. Jesus knew that when his disciples went to any place to evangelize, a family or house would take them in, welcome them and give them what they needed because hospitality was an important religious tradition in Palestine. By His stern instruction, Jesus seems to be saying, "If people refuse to listen to you or to show you hospitality, the only thing you can do is to treat them as an orthodox Jew would treat a Gentile or a pagan. The Rabbinic law stated that the dust of a Gentile country was defiled, so that when a Jew entered Palestine from another country, he had to shake off every particle of dust from the unclean land.

All baptized Christians are invited to share in the ministry Jesus puts forward today, though in a special way to Priests, Religious and Deacons. Jesus is inviting us today to cooperate with him. He wants us to be his instruments of liberation, to help others recover their freedom. We are meant to help people to cure their sicknesses - not only the bodily sicknesses but psychological and emotional illnesses. As a family member, a friend, a colleague, an evangelizer, we can truly have a healing influence.

Fr. Davis Chackaleckel, M.S.F.S.

CORRESPONDENCE

"Dear Fr. Davis and the People of St. Catherine Church:

It has been several months since I have given you a report on how your dollars are making a difference at the Visitation Clinic. So much has happened over the past several months!

with the economy in a slump, I ha e to say that VHF has also been affected. However, we continue to maintain clinic operations and treat approximately 90 patients each day. We are now offering vaccinations in partnership with the Haitian Ministry of Health, who has also asked that we serve as an HIV AIDS testing site beginning this August. In October, we will build a vegetable garden with volunteers and a landscape architect from Sarasota. While I was in Haiti about one month ago, I helped plant Moringa trees, which provides the people with excellent nutrition as a supplement to their food.

With so many sick and older people living in the mountain regions surrounding Petite Riviere de Nippes, we have now implemented a new Mobile Clinic. This is a wonderful asset, as we reach out beyond the clinic borders to provide hope and healing for the frail and elderly in the region.

Just a small amount can go a long way in Haiti. We have depended on St. Catherine's second collections over the years to help us with our mission to provide competent and compassionate medical care for the poor of Haiti. Whatever you can give will be a blessing to us, and we ask that you please be as generous as possible.

We also want to report that our Foundation offices have moved to Bellevue [237 Old Hickory Blvd., Suite 201, Nashville, TN 37221; (615) 673-3501].

We thank you for your generosity in the past and pray that God will bless each and every one of you with all good things.

Gratefully, Fran Rajotte, Director of Development and Communications, Haiti Visitation Hospital Foundation [dated June 22, 2009]

Father Louis Rojas will be celebrating daily Mass (8:15 AM) each Thursday.

AUDIENCE: THE ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF PRIESTLY MINISTRY

VATICAN CITY, 1 JUL 2009 (VIS) - The Year for Priests was again the theme of the Holy Father's catechesis during his general audience, held this morning in St. Peter's Square.

The Pope began his remarks by expressing the hope that the Year "may be an opportunity for the inner renewal of all priests and, consequently, for the revitalisation of their commitment to the mission". He then announced that his catecheses over the next few months will focus on the figure of St. John Mary Vianney, the holy "Cure of Ars", on the 150th anniversary of his death.

What most stands out in the life of this saint, said Benedict XVI, "is his complete identification with his ministry. He used to say that a good pastor, a pastor after God's heart, is the greatest treasure the good Lord can give a parish".

"In fact, it is by considering the dual term 'identity-mission' that each priest will become better aware of the need for that progressive self identification with Christ which guarantees the faithfulness and fruitfulness of his evangelical witness. Thus, in the life of a priest, missionary announcement and worship are inseparable, just as sacramental identity and evangelising mission are likewise inseparable".

"The goal of priests' mission is, we could say, 'of worship': that all men and women may offer themselves as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, receiving the charity which they are then called to dispense abundantly to one another. ... Love for others, concern for justice and the poor are not so much a question of social morals as the expression of a sacramental conception of Christian morality because, through priestly ministry, the spiritual sacrifice of all the faithful is accomplished, in union with the sacrifice of Christ, the only mediator. This is the sacrifice that priests offer bloodlessly and sacramentally while awaiting the second coming of the Lord".

"In the face of so many uncertainties and so much weariness, even in the exercise of priestly ministry, it is vitally important to regain a clear and unequivocal view of the absolute primacy of divine grace", said the Holy Father. "The mission of each individual priest depends, then, also and above all on an awareness of the sacramental reality of his 'new existence'. Upon the certainty of his own identity - not artificially and humanly constructed but freely and divinely given and received - depends his perennial enthusiasm for the mission".

"Having received such an extraordinary gift of grace with their consecration, priests become permanent witnesses of their own encounter with Christ", and "are able to carry out their mission to the full, announcing the Word and administering the Sacraments.

"Following Vatican Council II", Pope Benedict added, "in some places the impression arose that there were more important things in the mission of priests in our time: some people believed that the priority was to build a new society".

Yet "the two essential elements of priestly ministry" always remain "announcement and power", said the Holy Father recalling how Christ sent His disciples out to announce the Gospel giving them the power to drive out demons. "Announcement and power", in other words "Word and Sacrament, are the pillars of priestly service, over and above the many forms it can take".

The Pope continued: "When the 'diptych' of consecration-mission is not taken into due account, it becomes truly difficult to understand the identity of priests and of their ministry in the Church. ... During this Year for Priests", he said, "let us pray for all the clergy. ... Prayer is the primary duty, the true path of sanctification for priests and the heart of authentic pastoral care of vocations".

And he concluded: "The low numbers of priestly ordinations in some countries not only must not discourage us, it should stimulate us to dedicate greater space to silence and to listening to the Word, to improving spiritual guidance and the Sacrament of Confession, so that the voice of God, which always continues to call and to confirm, may be heard and followed by many young people".
